The Future of Carbon Neutral
is here

How it works?

The Redux technology – a fuel treatment converter – has been fully developed, extensively tested over a lengthy period of time, and is ready for use in all fossil combustion engines right now. Redux can enhance the ecological and economic balance right away. As part of the development of Redux technology, applications in the sectors of vehicles, trucks, locomotives, ships, aircrafts, generators, and others have already been successfully tested on engines available on the market for several years.

Creative

Redux Technology is based on a converter that recycles liquid fossil fuels prior to combustion

Practical

Redux is ready to use right now. Existing motors can be adapted and modified in a simple plug-and-play way

Cost Effective

It allows you to significantly reduce emissions from burning liquid fossil fuels and improve efficiency by using less fuel at the output

$REDUX Token

$REDUX token is a cryptocurrency that allows token holders to financially benefit from the activities of the company, production and implementation of technological solutions, market expansion and development of the project as a whole. Also it secure the priority access to our product line.

ABOUT TOKEN

A $REDUX Tokens are BSC20 tokens that have been minted staring with the company's ICO in Q2 2022. In the future, $REDUX token holders will get access to additional premium functionalites on the platform and Redux Decentralized Autonomus Organization.

We plan to launch a decentralized and open carbon market. Our token and DAO will incentivize investors, businesses and organizations to participate in and manage the new green economy.

By increasing access to and demand for carbon offsets, we will demonstrate how to make green and climate projects more profitable, enabling companies and businesses to adapt more quickly to the realities of climate change.

$REDUX stores tangible value and ensures liquidity. It constantly accrues energy donated by energy producers and accumulates real value in a form of energy. WPR token also provides priority access to the renewable energy generation facility project auctions on the Redux platform.

The public offering of the $REDUX token will raise funds that will be used to develop the distribution and production of our technology solutions around the world. There are already more than 4 billion (!) devices in use around the world that produce energy by burning fossil fuels.

In this gigantic market, Redux is applicable almost everywhere, especially in the areas of mobility, including cars and trucks, buses, ships, up to aircraft and drones, as well as in energy and heat - oil heating systems, generators, combined heat and power plants (CHP) and other power plants, construction equipment.
